

UNICORN NEWSLETTER #2 January 2010

Here's the latest Unicorn news...

PODCAST

Available to download right now from the Unicorncamps website is our very first PODCAST! This is a sort of radio programme including music and interviews with Unicorn people to bring us all briefly together during the non-camping season. It's called a podcast as it's in mp3 format so you can listen to it on your i-pod or mp3 player. If you have neither of these you can listen to it on your PC or laptop, or best of all, burn it onto a CD and listen to the music in full colour on your hi-fi! If you think the podcast is a good idea and would like to send suggestions for future content, or indeed contributions (in the form of mp3s), then let us know on the email address provided in the podcast, and it may become a regular feature.

U.C.T. (Unicorn Camp Time)

As a result of the debate instigated by the last newsletter (conducted both via email and 'Ning') we are pleased to announce that the idea of holding the camps in a timezone-bubble one hour ahead of standard time will go ahead! There was overwhelming support for the idea, so we will trial it in 2010 and see how it goes. This means that on arrival at the camp the Gate Team will remind you to put your timepieces forward an hour - the equivalent of crossing to mainland Europe.

The 2010 Camps

The fliers for the 2010 camps will be coming through your letterbox very soon. The Natural Voice Camp sees the return of no fewer than five popular teachers who couldn't be with us in 2009, Nick Prater, Roxane Smith, Rowena Whitehead, and Rajeswar & Suekali. Many of the old gang are back, some in brand new roles; check the website for an up to date list of who's doing what. On the Peace Through the Arts Camp this year we have a first-timer guest star teacher, namely Muiz Brinkerhoff who many of you have danced with on his last visit to the U.K. and raved about. Again, check the website for the full line-up. In between the two big camps there is a brand new smaller camp, the 'Camp of Magick' which you can read about on the website, and there is also an interview about it with James on the Podcast.

Young Adults

In order to encourage the younger generation of adult campers, many of whom grew up attending the camps (and all of whom are pretty hard up) there is a new payment category on the booking forms for the 2010 camps. This is for 19-25 year-olds, who will be able to get their tickets £70 cheaper than the full adult price.

Happy New Decade to all the Unicorn family from Bob, James, Jenny & Nickomo.

Keep up with developments by visiting the website: www.unicorncamps.com